

School banks a brace of top awards

STAFF from Kirton Primary School are celebrating after picking up national awards in two categories at the Children and Young People Now award ceremony in London.

In the learning category, the school's children-run Parliament Bank was up against the London Institute of Banking and Finance, so staff were astonished to win.

In the guidance and advice category, Kirton Primary School shared the shortlist with Sheffield City Council among others and managed to again take the title home. The ceremony was held at the Hurlingham Club in London.
