

Kirton Primary School in with a chance of double success at the 2019 Education Business Awards

By Winston Brown - winston.brown@iliffepublishing.co.uk

Published: 10:47, 20 June 2019 | Updated: 10:48, 20 June 2019

Kirton Primary School could be in for a very successful summer after it was shortlisted for two more national awards.

The current Lincolnshire Free Press and Spalding Guardian Primary School of the Year is in the running for two prizes at the Education Business Awards in London next month.

School staff from Kirton will find out on July 4 whether they have won one or both of the Outstanding Progress-Primary and STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering and Maths) awards they are finalists for.

Executive head teacher Nicky Donley said: "The Education Business Awards have an established reputation for showcasing success stories and examples of operational excellence in the UK education system.

"The awards recognise and celebrate the significant contributions made each year by schools and individuals who work in education."

The school is also shortlisted in both the Maths Team of the Year and Primary School of the Year categories for the 2019 TES (Times Educational Supplement) Schools Awards, the winners of which are due to be announced at a ceremony in London tomorrow night.

A statement on behalf of the school's board of governors, published in its summer newsletter, said: "We are lucky enough to take part in school life and see first-hand how happy, friendly and engaged are children are.

"We all feel really privileged to be part of this amazing school."

Executive head teacher Nicky Donley and staff from Kirton Primary School at the Children and Young People Now Awards 2018. Photo by Julian Dodd.