

Step 3

Cut the top from a large empty pop bottle (you may need a grown up to help with this bit.)

Water the cuttings thoroughly. And finally cover them carefully with the top half of the bottle to create their own mini greenhouse.

Step 4

Leave in a warm light place and keep the compost damp. Once plants are established, remove the bottle.

** This activity is quick and easy but the cuttings will take a few weeks to root, so you will need to be patient.
